Decoupage Illustration Plate and passage from Lionel and the Book of Beasts: A delightful illustration plate is decoupage with in Lionel and the Book of Beasts theme. Originally written in 1900 by E. Nesbit, this childhood classic of a century ago is retold and beautifully illustrated by Michael Hague.

Story: Suddenly finding himself made king, little Lionel unwisely opens one of his royal books and releases a dragon (rendered in Hague's distinctively golden-hazed illustrations as a sinuous red monster with moth-eaten wings) that proceeds to reak havoc in the kingdom. The Meaning of Motherhood: "Motherhood changes a woman, her values, her relationships, her goals, her dreams, and her identity. For many women, these changes are crucial, deep changes that often touch the core of a woman's soul, bringing forth emotions, questions and conflicts which are neither as easily understood nor resolved as many of us have been led to believe.... We're mothers in a society which frequently ignores the complexity of motherhood and exerts economic and social pressure on us to define ourselves outside of the role of the mother."

Although the experience of motherhood is one of the most powerful and transformative experiences one can have, we rarely have time to explore the many levels of meaning it has for us. Join us for coffee, tea, a delicious dessert, and a chance to focus on what motherhood has really been like for each of us. How has it changed us? How have we grown from it? Are there ways we feel diminished by it? Where do we want to go next on this journey? Through individual reflection and discussion, we'll explore this very powerful experience with a thoughtful, nurturing group of mountain school moms. Date: April 25 from 7-9 PM.
